ALIBI OFFERED TO POLICE HIT BY SIX PERSONS

Mark Wollner, Violinist, New Suspect in Death of Helen Clevenger

FOOT REPORTED BRUISED

Fiancee Grilled After Telling He Remained at Home All Night

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.—(UP)—Sheriff Lawrence Brown announced today that he had found four persons, in addition to two already offered by Mark Wollner, concert violinist, for the time Thursday when Helen Clevenger of New York was criminally attacked and killed in the Battery Park hotel.

"We'll have a showdown with Wollner today," the sheriff said. The violinist, a handsome man of 35 who made his American concert debut in New York's Town Hall, was held in solitary confinement while Brown took formal statements from his witnesses. His 19-year-old fiancee, Mildred Ward, a tubercular semi-invalid, was held with him.

She swore with Wollner that he spent all of Wednesday night, when Miss Clevenger was killed, in her home.

Watchman Held, too Brown also held Daniel Caddy, middle aged hotel night watchman, "for investigation," but said he had found nothing justifying a theory that Caddy and Wollner even knew each other. In the sheriff's mind, that almost absolved Caddy.

Sheriff Brown revealed yesterday that a lunch room waiter and a next door neighbor of Miss Ward had told him that they saw Wollner abroad on the streets during the night when Miss Clevenger was killed and when he and his fiancee said he was abed at her home where he boarded.

One of the witnesses, Charles English, the waiter, said he served the violinist coffee at about 6 a. m. Thursday. Miss Clevenger was dead in her hotel room then, although it was not until 7:30 that her uncle, Professor W. L. Clevenger of the North Carolina State College at Raleigh, discovered the tragedy. found her in pajamas on the floor of her room, shot and beaten to death.

English said Wollner's hands shook noticeably while he drank his coffee and he explained that he had "been out all night and had a hard right."

"His clothes were disheveled, his hair disarranged and he looked in bad shape," English said.

Bids, locally, were nearly the same as Saturday, the average for wheat being between 98 cents and $1; for yellow corn 87 to 90 cents and for white corn 98 cents to $1. Ottawa, July 20.—(UP)—Because of his desire to "leave home" Carl Conine, 20, farm boy residing east of here was in a Lima hospital today with a bullet wound in his left lung.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Bessie Conine, said by officers to have shot her son when he told her he was leaving home, was held without formal charge in the Putnam county jail.

Sheriff Clinton L. Felkey said Carl had been working and residing at the farm of Lawrence Oren, near Gilboa. He drove home at noon Sunday with Miss Margaret Aren, 20, daughter of Lawrence Oren, to get his clothing.

"I'm going to stay at the Oren home for good," Mrs. Conine said her son told her.

Mrs. Conine objected. "Carl became angry and slapped me a couple of times," the mother told the sheriff. "Then I grabbed the revolver which was in the dresser drawer where he was getting his clothes."

Carl ran outside after being shot and drove a mile to a gasoline station where Andrew Pacey called a physician.

ICKES TO SPEED PWA MUNICIPAL POWER BUILDING

Much of Three Millions May Be Used for Plan; Utilities to Protest

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(UP)—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes decided today to override public utility opposition and stress municipal power plant construction under his new $300,000,000 building program.

His plan was understood to have the full consent of President Roosevelt. It exactly fitted the New Deal's long-range plan of using federal money for publicly-owned power developments.

Ickes may finance up to 141 municipal electricity projects costing around $100,000,000 while battling power company charges that his action would violate the Constitution.

Need Relief Labor

Public power systems were pushed to the front in the big construction program after President Roosevelt ruled PWA could finance projects only where a city had sufficient relief labor to build them.

One hundred and forty-one municipalities already have certified lists of jobs available for the work of installing generators, dynamos and stringing transmission lines.

The power program, if all applications are financed by PWA on a 45 per cent grant basis, would include 68 new municipal power plants, 58 improvements to existing plants, 11 institutional plants and three distribution systems.

The final decision on the government's right to spend public funds financing municipally-owned systems will come next fall from the U. S. Supreme Court.

DOUGHT BROKEN IN MIDDLEWEST AS STORMS HIT

Temperature Falls in Many States, Though Several Remain Near 100

THREE AREAS SUFFER

Drenching Rain is Needed to Assist Crops in Various Regions

CHICAGO, July 20.—(UP)—The heat wave and drought, broken in 25 states by soothing showers and violent windstorms, spent itself on five southern states today.

Suffocating temperatures which cost nearly 4,500 lives in 23 states since July 5, faded from the weather map before repeated draughts of cool air from northern Canada and Alaska. Only in Arkansas, Oklahoma, southern Missouri, southern Kansas and northern Texas were 100-degree temperatures forecast today.

The drought, which has destroyed $600,000,000 worth of crops since June 1, appeared to be breaking slowly. Thunderstorms wetted the parched soil of all but four of the 25 stricken states. Except in a few localities, such as Indianapolis, Ind., and Madison, Wis., the showers were too light to completely revive withering crops, but they were accompanied by cool air which farmers said aided corn and pasture considerably.

Showers Predicted

"Local thunderstorms are indicated for southern sections of the north central states Monday or Tuesday, and in north-central sections Monday," J. R. Lloyd Chicago weather bureau forecaster, said. This area included southern Illinois, central and southern Wisconsin, Missouri, western and southeastern Iowa, eastern and southern Minnesota, Nebraska, southeastern South Dakota and Kansas.

Grain experts said that while these showers may prevent additional serious damage, only thoroughly drenching rains will produce near-average yields of the crops which have survived.

A destructive wind and rain storm removed Iowa, Nebraska and parts of Missouri from the weather picture. A 60-mile wind accompanied by blinding dust clouds and heavy rain struck western and central Iowa, northern and eastern Missouri and southeastern Nebraska. Serious damage to homes, trees and standing corn was reported from Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Missouri Valley, Shenandoah, Ia., Omaha, Neb., Kansas City and Lawrence and Topeka, Kan. Temperatures tumbled following the rain.

JUDGE REFUSES TO ACCEPT WILL FILED IN COURT

The document claimed to be the will of Mrs. Leah C. Rebstock, Hallsville woman who died a week ago, was refused for probate by Judge M. G. Fenton in Chillicothe court Saturday when the subscribing witnesses to the typewritten instrument said she had not signed it in their presence. One witness said she had not heard Mrs. Rebstock acknowledge it to be her will.

Judge Fenton held it was not duly executed and attested.

The instrument was made Oct. 23, 1935. After providing for sale of personal property to pay debts, and if necessary sale of a vacant lot in Hallsville, all the rest of the property was to go for life to Clara Hettinger, nominated as executor. On her death, the remaining property was to be sold and the proceeds divided, $25 to the U. B. church, Hallsville, $25 to the White Church cemetery fund; balance divided equally among Mrs. Jane Arndt, Greenville; Mrs. Martha Overly, Chillicothe; Mrs. Elizabeth Hassenpflug, Chillicothe; Mrs. Maude H. Yapple, Kingston and Mrs. Mattie Wood, Chillicothe.

The subscribing witnesses were Ida S. Tatman and Lillie B. DeLong. Mrs. DeLong said Mrs. Yapple and Mrs. Rebstock brought the will to her house for her signature as a witness. Mrs. Tatman said Mrs. Yapple brought the document for her signature. Judge Fenton points out that the will must be signed and acknowledged by the testator as the last will in the presence of both the subscribing witnesses, who must sign in her presence and the presence of each other.

Other next of kin mentioned in the notice for probate of the instrument are Otis, Carson and Robert Ranck, of Chillicothe.

An administrator will be appointed and the distribution of property will be according to the laws of decedent and distribution.

John Goodchild, postoffice employee, started his vacation Monday.

SOLONS GATHER; RELIEF STUDIED

Permanent Bill is Drafted to Please Rural Men

COLUMBUS, July 20.—(UP)—The legislature will reconvene tonight to take up the amended "permanent" relief bill, a product of a conference committee which worked over the week-end trying to get it in shape so it will pass both houses.

To satisfy demands of rural legislators, it was agreed by the committee that rural counties would be guaranteed a share in the relief money whether they need it or not.

Any county receiving more funds than are provided on a formula basis must match the excess appropriation dollar for dollar from local funds, it was agreed. If the bill as turned out by the committee is agreeable to both house and senate, the legislature probably will adjourn sine die tonight, ending the special session which started last September.

bedroom window overlooks the front of the house where Wollner boarded with his fiancée and her mother, Mrs. Essie Ward, told the sheriff that she saw Wollner enter the house shortly after dawn Thursday.

"He looked as though he had been up all night," she said. "I saw him walk up the street, stop a minute in front of the house, and then go in."

Brown refused to name the additional persons he said saw Wollner at the time his alibi would place him at home, but at least one of them, he said, "completes our case" by asserting that the musician was on a downtown street at about 2 a. m., approximately one hour after Miss Clevenger was slain.

The most important breach in the case against Wollner, although the sheriff did not discuss it, was the necessity of accounting for the fact that, so far as has been established, he did not know Miss Clevenger and had no business in the fashionable Battery Park hotel that would explain why he might have attacked and killed her.

Miss Clevenger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clevenger of Staten Island, New York, and a student at New York university, had been in Asheville only two days when she was slain and presumably knew no one here except some friends in the nearby country whom she had come from Raleigh with her uncle to visit.

Bruised Foot Reported

Ignoring for the moment Wollner's apparent lack of motive for the crime, investigators made much of an announcement by Dr.

FRUIT JUICES AID IN FIGHT AGAINST TORRID WEATHER

Homemakers who are placed at their wits' end by the demands of their families for something that tastes good during extremely hot weather, can satisfy part of the requests by providing a supply of fruit juices which can be used in making cooling drinks or frozen desserts.

The preservation of fruit juices is relatively easy because the water bath method can be used and the acid in the fruit juice will preserve it. The fruit should not be heated to the boiling point in extracting the juice because this will remove part of the color and the fresh flavor.

The juice can be extracted by mashing such fruits as berries, currants, or plums and then stirring them over the fire until they are just simmering. The dish should be removed from the fire when the fruit is heated to this temperature.

It is not necessary to add sugar to fruit juices at the time they are bottled or canned, but one cupful of sugar to each gallon of juice can be used if desired. The sugar helps retain the color and flavor but is not necessary for preservation.

If used, the sugar should be dissolved in the strained juice just before the juice is to be reheated for bottling.

The juice should be reheated to the simmering point and then poured into hot bottles or jars which have been sterilized. Fill the bottles to within one inch of the top if crown caps are to be used or within two inches if corks are to be used. The bottles or jars must be sealed tightly before they are processed.

Place the bottles or jars of juice on a rack in a large container of hot water. The water should extend at least two inches above the tops of the bottles or jars. Heat the water to 185 degrees Fahrenheit and keep it at that temperature for 10 minutes. The bottles should then be removed and permitted to cool.

AID IS OFFERED ALL AMERICANS IN MADRID AREA

Morocco told of mass executions of loyalists by rebels there and said that 10 Moorish school children were killed by bombs a government airplane dropped.

Workers all over Spain were arming to defend the government, ready to resort to civil war. Loyal troops were marching on some cities and towns held by the rebels. An army of Asturias miners is marching on Madrid to reinforce the loyalists.

A cruiser bombarded the rebels at Cadiz; submarines were ready to shell Malaga; warships bombarded rebels at Melilla and Ceuta, in Morocco.

Rebel strength seemed to center in Morocco and in southern Spain, though rebels claimed nearly all of the country. Broadcasts from the chaotic interior of Spain indicated that nobody, on either side, knew really what the situation was and that it would take another 24 hours to determine the fate of the government.

Gen. Franco Leader
Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander in chief, maintained his general headquarters at Tetuan, Morocco, and in a pronouncement appealed to the nation for support and threatened those who opposed him with merciless punishment.

Oddities in Nation's News

LEARNS ABOUT LAW

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(UP)—Alec Breckenstein 10 years ago went fishing in a city lake and caught ten pounds of fish. He found out the other day, he wrote the board of park commissioners, that fishing in the lake is against the law. He would, he told them, gladly pay his fine. The commissioners did not act on the offer.

SHOT ON ROCKET CAR

CHICAGO, July 20.—(UP)—Barney Cohen was shot in the ankle and Agnes Kurach in the finger as they rode in a "rocket car" brought from the world's fair to Riverview Amusement park. The bullet came from the gun of Policeman John Connelly, another passenger in the car which whirled and twisted at the end of a cable. The gun fell to the floor of the car and discharged.

Likes American Music

Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff

American music is championed by Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff, for 15 years director of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra, now in charge of the federal music project of the Works Progress Administration. "Never was there a time when America, either by birth or by adoption, had such a wealth of artists," he says. Dr. Sokoloff was born in Russia, but became a citizen when he was 21 years old. "The hour for American music has struck," he asserts.

FISH STORIES OUT

SERVIA, Ind., July 20.—(UP)—Traditionally fanciful "fish stories" were ruled out today by the committee sponsoring a Liars' contest for the homecoming celebration Aug. 21.

POLICE 3 YEARS LATE

TOLEDO (UP)—"Where's the holdup?" demanded three police squads as they answered an emergency call. "That was three years ago," Mrs. F. J. Krill replied. ### Dainty Cookies For Garden Parties

Summertime beverages and frozen desserts invite a nibble of sweetness such as our favorite cookies. Coconut macaroons are most inexpensive cookies to make, but one of the most costly to buy. These may be made at home by the smart homemaker.

Coconut Macaroons
1 egg white
3/4 C. sweet coconut
1/2 C. thick condensed milk
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Beat the egg white until stiff, then fold it into the mixture of coconut and condensed milk. Add flavoring. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking-sheet and shape into cakes. Bake in a moderate oven until lightly browned.

Jam Marquerites

Quick service for unexpected guests may be derived from marquerites made with jam. Try this the next time a crowd drops in unexpectedly.

1 egg white
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 C. jam or jelly
Crackers
Chopped nuts, if desired

Add salt, lemon juice and jam to the egg whites and beat until mixture piles. Drop a spoonful on each cracker. Sprinkle with nuts and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until delicately browned about 20 minutes. These should be eaten while fresh.

Cinnamon Goodies

An old fashioned Dutch recipe for goodie bars makes a cookie or cakelet with splendid flavor possibilities. This cinnamon snap has plenty of repeat requests.

1/2 C. butter
1 C. granulated sugar
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 C. milk
1 C. flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 C. chopped nuts
1 C. confectioner's sugar
1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Cream the butter until soft, then gradually add the granulated sugar and continue creaming until smooth. Add the egg yolks and beat until light. Add the vanilla and the milk alternately with the flour which has been sifted with the baking powder and the salt. Mix thoroughly after each addition. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread the batter in a greased and floured shallow loaf pan (9"x14"). Sprinkle with chopped nuts, confectioner's sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 25 minutes. Remove from the oven, cool, slice and cut into bars 3 inches long and three-fourths inch wide. Allow the bars to cool in the pan.

A goodly number of really first class recipes were entered in our weekly recipe contest last week and our judges, according to their own statements, had quite a time in deciding on three winners.

We wish it were possible to award more than three prizes each week since we have so many fine entries.

However, prizes must be confined to first, second, and third and here are the names of the winners, who, in the opinion of the judges, submitted the three best recipes.

The editor urges all those who have failed in the past to try again this week. Choose another good recipe and send it in. Maybe the competition won't be so keen this week.

Only a few more weeks remain of our Household page contest. If you have waited to enter your recipe don't put it off much longer. Send your favorite recipe to the Household Editor of the Herald this week and become eligible for one of the three cash prizes.

ALWAYS TOMORROW

PRESSURE of the future on the present was noted by Coleridge, who wrote, "In today already walks tomorrow." The observation has a pointed bearing on our own day and time, when, for example, Christmas cards are planned and, doubtless, manufactured in large quantities at Summer's height.

The rulers of fashion yield to no one
 with respect to sizing up the future keenly and appraisingly. Their premier position is understandable. Not only is it their business to have prophetic vision, but it is a business in which they have been methodically and scientifically trained. In addition to their second sight, whether inherent or developed, they are able to set wheels speedily in motion. Do they predict that women will favor black and white in apparel? The season turns out to be black and white. Is an intimation given by them that frocks will carry a decided suggestion of Joseph's coat? The season is extraordinarily cheerful. A vast assemblage of outfitters seems not merely awake to the slightest hint from the experts, but also to have in readiness the necessary machinery to make the hint a reality. It's a well-ordered system.

It is, therefore, no surprise these summer days to be told something about fall fashions. The prognostications, more or less guarded to arouse the proper amount of interest and curiosity, are for "a varied color emphasis" in suits and coats. This may be a bit blind, save to the initiate, who are quick to translate the announcement into the hopeful prediction that the individual woman may have latitude, within a fairly well defined color scheme, of course, to choose the hues she deems most becoming. Such freedom from regimentation will be welcomed by independent spirits.

DEVELOPMENT OF REASON

WHEN a scientist and educator said:
 "Teachers have been so successful in teaching children to read," his audience wondered if it had heard him right. It had, in explanation of his amazing statement the speaker stated that "after learning to read, the pupil spends the rest of his school life reading to learn."

The complaint is that school children are depending too much on "book learning"
 and not enough on reason and experience.
 The word is taking the place of the thing
 and reading that of doing, with the result that the student falls under the delusion that all learning is in books, and that books are the only source of education.

There is an element of truth in the edu-cator's logic, although he has exaggerated
 the situation not a little. The best educated man is not necessarily the one whose head is packed with the most information. It is the one best able to employ his store of information and who has read primarily to

TREASURY CHECKS FLOW

WASHINGTON—New Dealers have learned a lot since the drought of 1934, and it looks as if the present drought sufferers are going to get the benefit of it.
 Three pipe-lines leading directly to the drought-farmer's door already have started a flow of Treasury checks.

One comes from the Works Progress Administration, which has a tremendous reservoir of $1,425,000,000 to draw upon.

The second runs from Rex Tugwell's Rural Resettlement agency, which has $3,- 390,000 to spend and expects to be allotted $2,000,000 more.

The third taps the Department of Agriculture Drought Commission, which has $5,000,000 as a starter and will probably pump out about $30,000,000 more.

PUMP NO. 1

Harry Hopkins' WPA has been assigned human relief. He started out by hiring 75,- 000 farmers and townsmen in North and South Dakota at $52 a month to dig wells, build dams, construct lakes, etc., will continue hiring in the West and South.

All red tape has been cut. Ordinarily state engineers make surveys and recommendations for projects, but during the emergency no O. K. from Washington will be necessary. Men are being given jobs on projects which may not be officially authorized for months to come. WPA is paying labor, the states furnishing materials.

PUMP NO. 2

Tugwell's Resettlement Administration
 is taking care of direct grants—the dole, averaging $18 and $20 a month per family,
 and personal loans. He also has $2,000,000
 to lend farmers to feed foundation herds
 through the winter, his agency interlocking with Pump No. 3 here. He figures on $25 a head until next spring and will need fifteen to thirty million dollars more, depending on rainfall, to carry out his plan.

Tugwell, like Hopkins, had a field organization built up—about 15,000 people,
 not counting volunteers who, incidentally,
 are an important part of his organization.
 If a farmer needs a loan, he applies to an RA county supervisor. His cars is investigated by a volunteer board consisting of one farmer, the county agent, a merchant, a banker, and a woman interested in welfare. This board has the final word. If it says yes, a Treasury check is mailed from Washington in from two to six weeks. The same procedure and time is needed to get on the dole.

Extremely significant is the fact that the American farmer, during the year ending June 30, borrowed $100,000,000 while begging only $15,000,000. But drought will change that proportion this year.

Tugwell's right-hand drought man is Judge Joseph L. Dailey, a six-foot-two Harvard law graduate who went to New Mexico for his health. There he met Tugwell, who persuaded him to resign from the bench and take charge of rural rehabilitation.

develop his reasoning powers. A little bit of knowledge is a dangerous thing when divorced from reason.

They say it takes a year to make a careful driver, but 30 days will do it in the right place.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to another dry day and consequently feeling low until at a leisurely breakfast turned to the market page where learned that volume of assemblies is the greatest in the automobile's history with the exception of 1929, that retail trade and industry are surging forward, that the steel industry is showing unusual vitality, that power production last week
 reached the highest total ever recorded, that retail collections were up almost 10 per cent in June, that the average price of stocks stands 2.11 points above
 the level at the close of 1935,
 that wheat, butterfat, cattle,
 hogs and sheep are selling at good prices. All of which hoisted spirits, but did nothing to dampen down our parched crop
 fields and pastures.

Farmers of Pickaway county
 probably have more money right
 now than at any time before with the possible exception of the very peak period of the peak years. But nothing short of a good soaking rain will open the flood gates of fear

 now restraining this great wealth. This is a farming community and since we all live directly or indirectly from the soil
 our interest and sympathy rest with the men and women and children of the nation's most important industry. We all stand united in supplication for rain to increase the productivity of our land and the happiness
 and prosperity of our entire population.

Out and about the town to meet Chris Waag, publisher of the Ohio Outdoor News, lamenting loss of a box of select fishing flies somewhere near the dam on the canal. Since fly fishermen are few in these parts
 did tell Chris that someone probably will return his lures which took a long time in assembling. Chris, recently here from Cleveland and all of his life
 a big city man, declared that never until he came to Circleville did he fully realize the importance of farming. He says that a three day rain would suit

 him right down to the ground,
 and the desire is not prompted by selfishness Chris has had his first contact with the country and he is thinking of the farmers.

Into the office comes Orin Birchler, of up Ashville way,
 accompanied by his fine family,
 here to subscribe to the paper and exhibiting a new interest in the city. Orin's wheat ran better than most in this district, but not up to production recorded in many other parts of the county.

In the evening to the Cliftona to see H. G. Wells' forecast of "Things to Come," a spectacular production and fine entertainment. However, do not think London films will replace those of Hollywood for the Oxford accent is not easily caught by mid-western ears. Then to bed with a slight breeze blowing
 after a raid on the refrigerator
 that produced a beaker of milk and the negligent remains of the dinner's roast beef.

CHAPTER 50

"WILL I DO what?" Beatrice dropped her gloves and stared at the determined, desperate Joan who had just suggested that Mrs. Winslow name her instead of Sheila in the proposed divorce suit.

"You heard me. You want a divorce. You want to name some woman. What's the matter with you?
 No one knows me but my own small circle of friends. They all know that I was in love with Win. It would sound reasonable." Her words came stilly from her throat.

"You do love him, don't you?"
 Joan shook her head miserably.

"Then perhaps you'll tell me why you suggest such a preposterous
 thing."

"I've just discovered myself and it isn't such a preposterous thing." Joan's voice took on strength and a strange light glowed in her eyes.

"Oh, no, not preposterous at all," Beatrice dismissed it. "You just want to make yourself the center of a scandal for no good reason. What is Sheila true to you?"

"Nothing. Nothing at all." Joan's voice was far away.

"It's all over my head and I'm afraid I can't agree to it," Beatrice answered firmly.

"Beatrice, haven't you ever heard of sacrifice?"

"I once was coming on Joan now.
 She was no longer desperate, frightened at what she had said."

"Sacrifice?" Beatrice asked, as if that were a word that could have no meaning.

"Yes. The light still glowed in Joan's eyes."

"Let's have it," Beatrice waited.

"You said you love Win. Maybe you're right. Maybe we are different.
 And maybe you won't be able to see what I mean. But I think if you love someone, what happens to you isn't important, your self-respect or what other people think of you.
 Only the happiness of the person you love is important."

She stopped and gazed into space,
 into the blinding light of the truth that had been revealed to her. It was some moments before she spoke again and she didn't realize that Beatrice had not broken that silence.

"For five years I loved Win. I could have married him at any time during that time but I loved him and wanted him to be free to get on with his work and to marry me when he was able to afford marriage."

"I still loved him when he married Beatrice."

you. I didn't realize that by doing that, by not being fair with me by even telling me he was . . . well, that he was through with me, he had destroyed my belief in him. Like most girls, I thought I loved him more when I lost him."

"Then I met the man I love. . . .
 "Oh!" Beatrice murmured.

"I didn't know then that the real love I have now had come into my life. I only knew it a few minutes ago when you cleared the cobwebs of yesterday out of my mind. I only knew it when you told me that again
 his happiness and security are threatened. I. . . ."

"Look," Beatrice's voice was as low as her own. "I never saw things that way before. Is he in love with you?"

Joan shook her head negatively.

"How do you know?"

"He's in love with Sheila."

"Oh," there was a world of meaning in Beatrice's little monosyllable.

"Does he know you're in love with him?"

"No."

"He's in love with that woman, yet you'd sacrifice yourself, your good reputation to keep him from knowing what she's doing?"

"Beatrice didn't want to look at Beatrice then."

"There's nothing new about that," Joan said softly. "Women have been doing it since the beginning of time.
 I guess. They've done lots more, too, that was harder to do. Like sticking to the men they love until they come to their senses. Wives like you married to men like Win."

She got up and walked to the window. She didn't want to look at Beatrice then."

"Listen, Joan, you can thank me
 for something," Beatrice had left her chair and now slipped her arm
 through the other girl's. "If I hadn't come along, you would have married Win and missed this real love you talk about. Understand?"

Joan nodded.

"I'm glad, I don't think, if I had known you, I wouldn't have done it.
 Because I would have liked you too much. I'm going back and try to be the kind of a wife you would have been. Okay?"

Joan gripped Beatrice's hand.

"Okay," she said.

"There are two sides to every story,
 aren't they?" she asked Joan.

Joan nodded.

"Well, I suppose I might try the other side for a change. It will be a novelty."

She held out her hand, "I'm sorry for what Win lost but I guess he'll have enough punishment with me for the rest of his life. Thanks, Joan."

Spencer. I'll do something for you sometime."

She did.

When Beatrice Winslow wanted
 something she said she always went out and got it. There was something that she wanted that day.

Joan, alone in the library again,
 made a slow pilgrimage about it.
 She touched a pipe, a book Julian had been reading, the pen his hand had laid down. Slowly, photographing everything in that room in her memory to carry through her life,
 her eyes traveled over it.

Then she took off her smock and hung it in the little stockroom.

She went upstairs to her own room
 and closed the door behind her.
 Moving in a daze she took down her suitcases and opened them.

There was time, time to think,
 time to hold close to her that which she had realized only today. She gazed down through the years ahead that she was to face alone but never without peace again.

Her heart had found its home.

She could go back to the little schoolroom in Blackview now.

The door opened softly. Julian came in the doorway.

"May I come in?" he asked.

"Please do," she said and saw that his face was white and strained.

"Is there something the matter?"
 she asked quickly.

"Yes," he said. "A Mrs. Winslow
 has been calling on me."

"And?" Even Joan's knees felt jammy and her heart bobbed up in her throat. Julian looked so stern.

"She told me a great many things.
 I have to know if they are true."

Joan swallowed. So Beatrice had decided to go through with a divorce?

"Yes, they are," she said. Julian could hardly hear her and she didn't look at him.

"Then I shall have to dismiss you as my secretary," he said, and she was shocked to find that his voice seemed elated.

"I suppose you will," she said. "I was planning to leave tonight."

"Dismiss you as my secretary,
 Joan, and keep you by my side all my life as my wife."

"She clasped her trembling hands,
 "Your wife?"

"She told me that you loved me
 and you just said the things she said were true," he said simply.

"Well," Joan laughed. "Isn't it time you stopped treating me like a secretary?"

"Oh, my dearest," he said, because there was something else to say when all the other things could be said in the heaven they were making for themselves.

DIET AND HEALTH

Science Eliminates One Danger of Bathing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF THE most interesting of the exhibits at the American Medical association was from the Mayo clinic. As you passed by the booth
 you saw a large colored picture

of a crowded
 bathing beach
 in the summer
 time, with a throng of bathers sporting in
 the waves, and
 you said to yourself, "What
 a lovely world
 has this holiday scene to do
 with the care
 of sick people."

The answer was that a certain peculiar condition, which they call "hypersensitiveness to cold" is discovered under such happy circumstances. Somebody goes into the water on a day when it is cold, and collapses. Many of the cramps or faints in the water which threaten drowning are of this character.

What happens, apparently, is that certain people are sensitive to cold
 to the extent that it causes a change in the capillary blood vessel in the part exposed. There is also a generalized reaction over the entire body, with flushing of the face and lowering of blood pressure.

Chemical Released
 The cause of the reaction seems to be that in these specially sensitive individuals the direct application of cold to the skin results in the liberation of a chemical substance
 from the tissues named "histamine."

Histamine has been extensively studied in recent years in laboraless interested in drug reactions. It is of no value as a medication because all of its actions are uncon-fortable or undesirable, but it does some very interesting things in the body. Its reactions are almost identical with what occurs in the hyper-sensitive conditions called "allergy"

—asthma, hay fever, hives. And it may be that allergy is nothing more than the release of histamine from the tissues by the action of the substance to which the individual is sensitive. Since histamine occurs in all tissue extracts, animal and vegetable, this is not impossible.

At any rate, the reaction of these special individuals to cold greatly resembles the injection of histamine into the body, and may be due to the cold releasing it from the tissues.

The most important thing is that the condition is amenable to treatment. It only the hands alone are immersed in water at a temperature of only 50 degrees Fahrenheit, twice a day, for 10 minutes to half an hour, a cure has been effected in every case tried. The characteristic reaction occurs after the first two or three immersions and then gets less and less, looking as if an immunity had occurred and the substance formed, whatever it is, is neutralized.

The condition is a valuable one to remember during the summer holidays.

SPORTSMEN LIBERATE 500 MORE PHEASANTS IN COUNTY WOODLANDS

LIBERATION OF BIRDS ARE BANDED FOR IDENTIFICATION

Francis Aided by Harlow, Binkley and Miller; 400 Yet to be Distributed

Nearly 500 more pheasants, developed on the farm of Clarence Francis, Pickaway county conservation officer, were liberated in the county Sunday and Monday.

The liberation makes nearly 650 the total distributed through the county in recent months.

Before the conservation department has concluded its broad program, it intends to have placed 50 pheasants in each township of the county.

Assisting Mr. Francis in the distribution this week-end were Fred Harlow of the conservation department, and M. L. (Mike) Binkley and B. S. (Timmy) Miller, Pickaway county sportsmen.

Many of the birds freed this week-end were banded for identification purposes. The conservation department urges that all hunters or farmers who find these banded birds contact the department telling where and when the pheasant was taken.

There are still about 400 pheasants to be released.

ANOTHER KILLED
IN TRACK WRECK

BOSTON, July 20—(UP)—Improvement was reported today in the condition of two automobile race drivers critically injured Saturday at Revereville race track in a pileup which killed another driver and slightly injured a fourth.

The name of Rex Mays of Riverside, Cal., remained on the Forest Hills hospital danger list but that of Vern Orndoff of Patterson, N. J., was removed yesterday. Both suffered internal injuries.

Mays and Orndoff were battling neck-and-neck for the lead in the race when their cars crashed and burst into flames, Wesley Johnson of Lansdowne, Pa., and Harry Angeloni of New Brunswick, N. J., rammed into the wreckage.

Johnson died before reaching a hospital.

DYKES' SOX AND INDIANS STIR UP
AMERICAN RACE

Both Teams Gain as Yanks Fail in Contests in Own Backyard

NEW YORK, July 20—(UP)—The revival of the Chicago White Sox, under the dynamic leadership of Jimmy Dykes, ranked as baseball's outstanding mid-season accomplishment today.

Since the "Black Sox" were banished from baseball late in 1920, no White Sox team was swept through the east with a record to equal the one just compiled by the hustling Pale Hose. They won 11 out of 13 games, took every series and were on their way home today to open a 13-game stand at Coniskey Park with a winning streak of eight straight intact.

The Cleveland Indians also played at a dizzy clip during their eastern tour, winning 10 out of 12 games, but Steve O'Neill's club has long been recognized as a team of power and potentialities whereas the White Sox have been looked upon as a gang of misfits.

The White Sox were tied with the world champion Tigers today for fourth place, but only two games back of the second-place Indians. They were 11 games behind the league-leading Yankees, but not out of the pennant race.

The White Sox blasted out a twin victory over the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 11-5 and 8-2, running their winning streak to eight in a row.

After winning the first game from Washington, 11-3, to run their winning streak to nine straight, the Indians dropped the second game, 9-5.

OLYMPIC STARS
RECEIVE ORDERS;
JESSE OWENS ILL

ABOARD S. S. MANHATTAN, AT SEA, July 20—(UP)—One sharp, drastic warning was enough to restore discipline to the United States athletes en route to the Olympic games at Berlin, and today all was serene once more on board ship.

Threatened with dismissal from the team, the athletes who were mentioned in the reports of gambling, drinking and carousing after hours, quickly heeded the warning of Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee.

The members of the field hockey, fencing and women's swimming teams were mentioned as participants in violations of training rules. The rumors of their actions spread fast throughout the ship and threatened to disrupt the morale of the entire team. Brundage, in a general warning to the entire team, said that any future offenders would be dropped from the team and left at the first port of call, Cobh, Ireland.

The only untoward news today concerned Jesse Owens, Ohio State negro and outstanding star of the track and field team, who has a touch of laryngitis.

KAMPOURIS' HIT
DEFEATS GIANTS
IN SECOND TILT

CINCINNATI, July 20—(UP)—The faltering Cincinnati Reds pulled themselves together for a late rally yesterday that netted them a victory and an even break in a double-header with the New York Giants.

After they had dropped the first contest 4 to 3, the Reds went into the home half of the ninth of the second behind 2 to 1.

They then hopped on young Al Smith for two runs and the triumph when Scarcella singled, Lombardi doubled and then came home on a single to center by Alex Kampouris.

Gene Schott went the route for the Reds in the second game.

TEAMS IN WESTERN PART OF ASSOCIATION ON TOP

BY UNITED PRESS
The West's four American Association clubs, again holding down the first division lost one game out of eight played yesterday. The Kansas City Blues, fourth place team, dropped half of a double-header with Columbus.

Kansas City's Phil Page pitched his team to a 6 to 1 victory over the Columbus Red Birds, then the Blues lost the second game 13-9 as the Birds bats got busy.

The Scotch may have invented golf but the invention of the rubber core ball, steel-shafted club and wooden tee were American contributions.

INDIANS RETURN,
HOPING TO GAIN
ON NEW YORKERS

WASHINGTON, July 20—(UP)—After one of their most successful road trips in many seasons, the Cleveland Indians headed home today and were still confident they could overtake the New York Yankees.

The Indians closed their eastern tour here yesterday when they divided a double-header with Washington. They won the first game 11 to 3 for their ninth triumph in a row and then had their streak broken in the nightcap when they lost 9 to 5.

The Indians won 10 of the 12 contests they played on the road and during the two weeks they were in foreign territory picked up four and one-half games on the Yanks.

COOPER FAVORED TO WIN
IN PLAYOFF AT ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 20—(UP)—A remarkable string of playoff victories made lighthorse Harry Cooper, suave idol of a critical northwest gallery, a topheavy favorite today in his 36-hole duel with Dick Metz, of Chicago, on the fourth day of the $5,000 St. Paul open golf tournament.

Bearing down on Metz almost an hour after the handsome youngster had posted a fine 277, Cooper battered a stroke off par on the 18th green to stay in the running for $1,200 purse.

Although Cooper lost a three-way playoff in the 1934 St. Paul open, his long record reveals him as at his best under the pressure of an extra day.

Claudette Colbert and Walter Huston Substitute for Beery, Erwin

"THE BARKER" GOES ON RADIO AT 8 O'CLOCK

Crosby's Hour Delayed Because of Landon's Speech Thursday

Claudette Colbert and Walter Huston will be co-starred in the radio version of "The Barker" on the Radio Theatre tonight on the WABC-CBS network at 8 p. m. (EST).

Miss Colbert and Mr. Huston are replacing Wallace Beery and Stuart Erwin, whose planned broadcast, "Viva Villa," was postponed Thursday. Beery is making "Old Hutch," and Erwin is in the cast of "Chain Lightning," now being filmed in Hollywood. Both stars explain that they could not be away from the motion picture studios to attend rehearsals for the broadcast.

"The Barker" is a story of street carnival life. Huston starred in a Radio Theatre presentation of the show in October 1934, and is returning at the request of the radio audience.

Although Miss Colbert did not appear with Huston on the Radio Theatre's 1934 production, she was in the cast of the Broadway version of the story, with Huston, in 1927, and she also played in "The Barker" in London. This is her second appearance on the Radio Theatre. In December, 1934, she played in "Holiday."

The date on which Wallace Beery is to play "Viva Villa" on the air will be selected later.

King Vidor, famous Hollywood director, will appear on the broadcast as guest of the producer, Cecil B. DeMille.

CROSBY POSTPONED

The Music Hall yields its time on the WEAF-NBC network next Thursday night, at 9 p. m. (EST) to Governor Alfred M. Landon, who will accept the Republican party's presidential nomination in a speech from the steps of the Governor's Mansion at Topeka.

Kansas. This marks the third time Bing Crosby's broadcast has been cancelled in favor of political broadcasts during recent weeks.

Joan Bennett, motion picture actress, who returned this week from Europe, will be heard on the broadcast Thursday night, July 30, at 9 p. m. Although details of the broadcast have not been completed, Miss Bennett probably will appear in an interview with Crosby, the master of ceremonies.

WATERS WITH BERNIE

Ethel Waters, Negro singing star of "At Home Abroad," will be the guest of Ben Bernie and all the lads when the Old Maestro broadcasts his program over an NBC-Blue network and 500,000-watt WLW at 8 p. m., Tuesday.

Bernie and the lads will supply their usual quota of vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with Bernie quips. The program, to be Bernie's first after leaving Hollywood, will be broadcast from Detroit.

Molly

Gene Byrnes, pictured above, is cast as "Molly Malone" in "Molly of the Movies," heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System and 500,000-watt WLW from 2 to 2:15 p. m., EST, daily except Saturday and Sunday. Born in London, Ontario, in 1911, Miss Byrnes in private life is Gene Hynd. She has been in radio since 1930, when she was called in to replace a girl actress who became suddenly ill. Before radio, Miss Byrnes was in stock in Detroit.

BANDON, Ore. (UP)—A 2,000-pound cheese, believed to be the largest ever made, has been finished by a local plant. The cheese is the first of 10 ordered by San Francisco and Oakland merchants. In its manufacture 20,000 pounds of milk was used and 20,000 pounds pressure was necessary to squeeze the whey out of the curds.

LIQUOR IN CAR SENDS ASHVILLE MAN, 45, TO JAIL

Judge Joseph W. Adkins of common pleas court fined Fred Pennington, 45, Ashville, $100 and costs Monday morning for transporting illegal whiskey. Pennington was unable to pay his fine and was sent to the county jail.

J. F. Curry, constable of Harrison township, arrested Pennington Saturday evening. He reported he found two full pint bottles of liquor in Pennington's automobile. Another pint bottle, he said, was half full and Pennington was in a state of inebriation at the time of his arrest.

Pennington was arrested by Constable Curry Saturday evening for disorderly conduct in an Ashville beer parlor. The constable said Weaver would be given a hearing before J. S. Hoover, Harrison township justice of peace. Weaver was brought to the county jail to await.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The trouble with adjectives like "colossal" and "stupendous" is that they seem strangely futile when a reviewer attempts to apply them to a picture like "Things To Come." Alexander Korda's production of H. G. Wells' amazing predictions of the developments slated for this old world in the next century, which held a huge audience spellbound and breathless at the Cliftona Theatre last night.

For "Things To Come" is, without question, the biggest cinema undertaking in this reviewer's privilege to witness. There has never been anything to approach it in size, originality or variety and it merges at once a screen masterpiece and the ultimate in entertainment.
